

NEWS UPDATE

Geneva, 18 February 2008

We are happy to announce that, in tune with the needs of CEOs, HR managers and recruiters, PDP launches a new tool: the video CV. In parallel to this new development, the management of PDP undergoes a few changes, as Jean-Antoine de Mandato, a partner since 2005, takes over the company's full ownership and general management. Robert Posey, founder of PDP, following his planned retirement, relinquishes operational activities but remains Chairman of the Board. Daniel Meyer, who had joined PDP as partner in 2005, creates his own company Winners Sports Management SA, dedicated to career management and transition of high level athletes, but carries on offering Executive Coaching support within PDP. Seconding Jean-Antoine de Mandato, Pam Grant will be responsible for the Geneva office and Chantal Gardner, who is also vice-president of the professional association of coaches for Western Switzerland, will be in charge of the Lausanne branch.

Founded in 1997, PDP has undergone a steady expansion, nourished by a team of highly qualified advisors, with proven and complementary track records in Business Management as well as Human Resources. PDP is proud to have become a definite leader in career transition management in French-speaking Switzerland and, with a total team of 15 across the three offices of Geneva, Lausanne and Bern, one of the largest HR consultancies in terms of number of advisors. Their management experience covers all major sectors of Swiss as well as multinational companies, international organisations and NGOs. Therefore, PDP has strongly developed its clientele at the higher levels of management.

We, at PDP, have always favoured on-going dialogue in order to address effectively the particular needs of each individual. During the past two years, we have increased our offer of services without jeopardising our philosophy, notably in the fields of executive coaching, human resources and organisational analysis. We are greatly looking forward to making you benefit from our increased experience and know-how.

Kind regards,

Jean-Antoine de Mandato
Managing Director
